Reviews

*A high quality pdf as well as the typeface applied was exciting to see. It really is written in simple words and phrases rather than difficult to understand. You will not really feel monotony at any time of your time (that's what catalogs are for relating to in the event you question me).

Excerpt from Love in All Ages: Songs and Fragments of Days Old and New The old Persians have given us beautiful lyrics, redolent of the perfume of roses and violets, and though shrouded in mysticism, they breathe the warmth of the far East. The early English poets gave the subject much attention and their lines are full of charm and a certain pleasing recklessness. The Eighteenth Century brought us poems of sincerity and much dignity. Truly, these verses belong to the age of the stately gavotte. Modern poets, the poets of to-day, are writing our own love songs telling the old, sweet story in accents we understand.
